

The Mendelised Bulbas

Welcome to the Mendelised Bulbas.

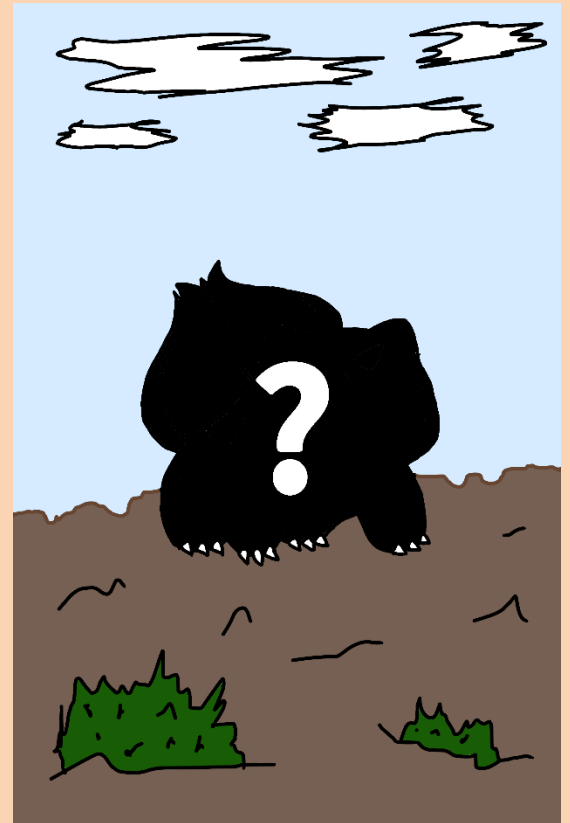

In this collection we will try to find the original Bulba genes.

We'll start shuffling the genes, and then the mendelian machine will give us a Bulba.

The more original gene factors our Bulba contains, the more successful mendelization will be accepted and its values will increase in this direction.

"Original Bulba", in which all the original genes are combined, will therefore be considered the most valuable product. Also, when our next project comes into play, our friend who managed to find the original Bulba will be rewarded with surprises.

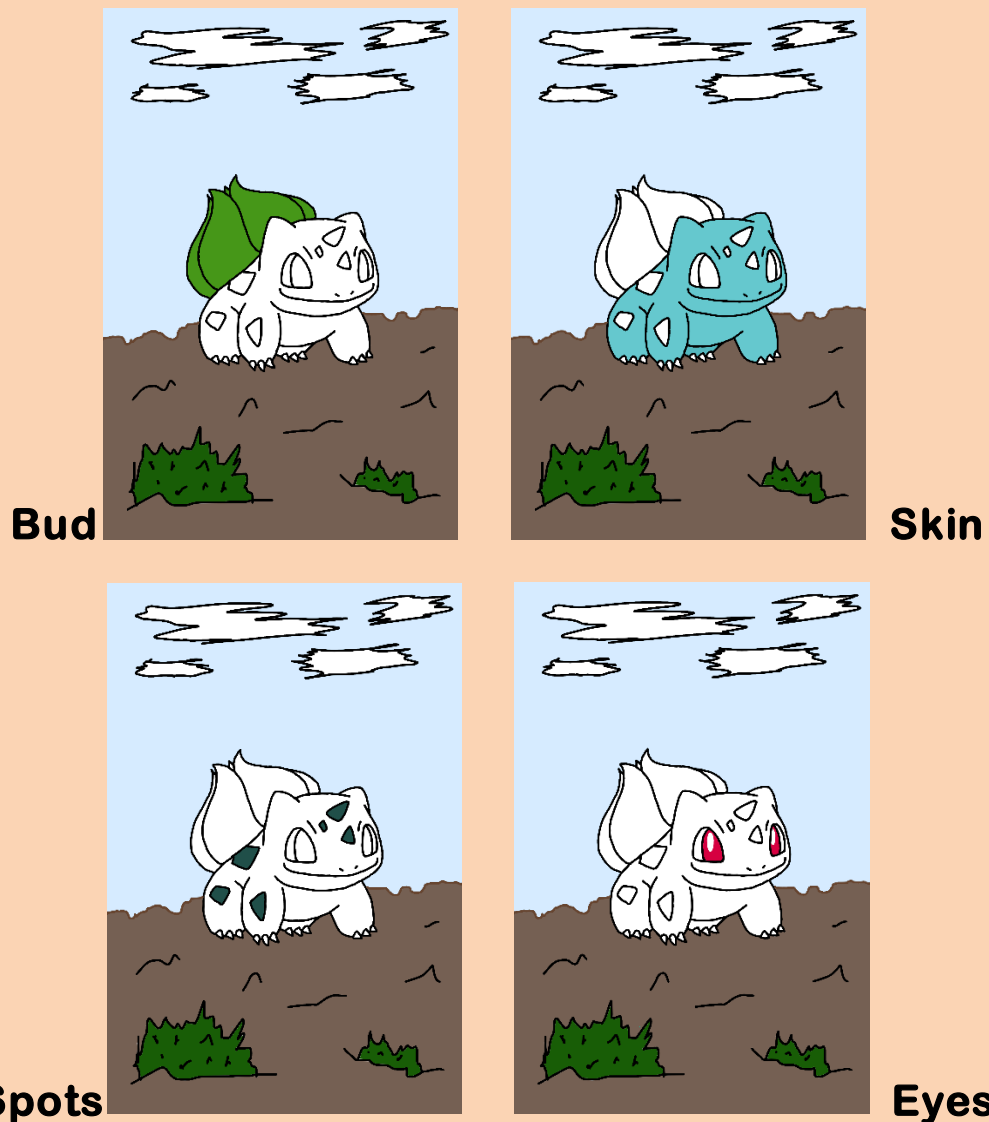

(For those who are curious about our new projects, we will give signals very soon.)

The genes that determine the colors you see in the samples are those that are considered original.

In the descriptions of the products you have already found, it will be written how many original gene patterns you have found.

Original genes are:

These are the value criteria we set. Apart from these, you can also find some very cute Bulbas and these can become much more valuable depending on the tastes of our community.

Come on, start mendelising; win!

This is an NFT project integrated into the polygon blockchain.

You need a metamask and polygon wallet.